PUBLICITY AGENT COMMITS SUICIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—(UP)—George Hyde, 36 year old former prominent newspaper reporter and publicity agent, died today a short time after he had dosed himself during a fit of despondency. He had been unemployed for some time.

He was well known here and in Los Angeles, having worked on various newspapers. At one time he was publicity agent for Alene Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist.

He asked that his wife, Mrs. Mildred Shield Hyde, of 1307 West 12th street, Los Angeles, and his brother, Walter S. Hyde, of 4132 East 18th avenue, Denver, be notified of his death.

CONFESSED SLAYER IS MODERN HAMLET

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 29.—(UP)—Picturing himself as a modern Hamlet, George D. Templeton, Jr., amused himself in jail here today by singing and reading detective stories while his attorney prepared an insanity plea to be used in defending him against a charge of slaying his wealthy aunt to death with a butcher knife.

In the manner of Shakespeare's classic, the 20 year old University of California student, described how "my grandmother's spirit came to visit me" while he slept in his cell.

"It was her spirit that urged be to get even with the Babcocks for the way they treated mother and dad," he said.

The grandmother he referred to was the mother of W. Rider Babcock, wealthy Manila importer, who was critically wounded at the time Mrs. Babcock was slain. Babcock and Templeton's mother are brother and sister.

1500 Indian Skulls Are Uncovered

STOCKTON, Calif., July 28.—(UP)—Seeking bleached bones and other relics of early day Indians, curious motorists thronged to a spot seven miles north of here today, where members of a bridge construction crew uncovered what was believed to be an old Indian burial ground.

Steam shovels dug into the ground late yesterday, turning up between 1000 and 1500 skulls mingled with old mortars, pestles, crystals, beads and other articles that had been buried with the Indians.

After a brief rest in the morning, the advance in the market was resumed in auspicious fashion around the noon hour and gradually gained momentum. Shortly before the close issues were at the best levels.

Gains in the active stocks ranged up to five points but in the inactive issues they ran as high as a dozen points. Activity was well under yesterday, however, sales approximating two million shares, against 2,700,000 shares yesterday which set a new peak for the current year.

Railroad stocks were groomed for leadership, replacing the tired oils, which have carried the burden recently. Even a batch of extremely favorable second quarter earnings statements of leading oil companies failed to shake them out of their lethargy.

Buying in the rails first appeared around noon and quickly spread throughout the list, even the utilities and the copper joining in the procession. During the first two hours of trading price movements were narrow as the market digested its gains of the previous session. The sudden strength in the rails around noon when many traders were expecting further reactionary tendencies caught the bear crowd unaware and considerable excited buying was done in the leaders.

Wide gains were general in the trading. National Lead sold at 66, up 12; Norfolk and Western, up 6 1-2; American Smelting, 6 per cent preferred, 27, up 5 1-2; Delaware and Hudson, 54 1-2, up 4; Colorado and Southern, 9, up 4; United States Steel preferred, 70 3-4, up 3 1-4, and New York Central, 18 1-4, up 2 5-8.

Gains in leaders like American Telephone, United States Steel and American Can ranged up to 2 points, many of them selling at new highs since early May.

The closing dealings were enlivened with a sensational spurt in Auburn Auto, which heretofore has participated little in the bull proceedings. In a few minutes Auburn soared nearly 10 points over its previous closing level of 58 1-8.

According to preliminary calculation, the Dow, Jones and company industrial average stood at $33.88, up 1.27 points, rails, 21.59, up 1.59, and utilities, 22.79, up 1.05.

Sales totaled 2,100,000 shares, compared with 2,700,000 yesterday.

REGARDLESS of Roosevelt's decision, he appears assured of Tammany Hall's support. The organization last night in New York adopted a resolution endorsing him for president: the allied organization dominated by John H. McCooey in Brooklyn did likewise.

The action apparently freed Roosevelt from any restraint that might be induced by threat of a Tammany reprisal.

The mayor in his reply specifically denied he was guilty of these offenses charged by Seabury.

That he violated the city charter by accepting Reliance Bronze and Steel Corporation bonds.

That he owned any Interstate Trust Company stock. It had been alleged that 300 shares of this stock had been purchased by his associates and used in connection with a franchise deal.

That he helped promote a franchise for the Equitable Bus company in return for financial "gratuities" such as a letter of credit for a trip to Europe.

That he promoted taxicab legislation in return for gifts of securities from brokerage firms interested in such legislation.

That he did wrong in accepting from his friend, Paul Block, a $246,000 share in the profits of a joint stock account, or that Block expected anything in return.

That he was responsible for the $900,000 stock and bank accounts of Russell T. Sherwood, who he said acted as agent for many but was not his financial agent.

Walker cited law to the effect that most of the 15 charges made by Seabury concerned the mayor's previous term in office, and therefore could not legally be made the basis of the present action. However, he answered every charge in detail.

Those charges were that Walker had received almost a million dollars in gifts during five years on a salary of about $150,000. Walker admitted gifts or sharing in joint trading accounts amounting to almost $300,000.

EQUITABLE DIVISION OF GAS TAX FUNDS WILL BE DEMANDED

National Lead Leads Field With Increase of 12 Points; Steel Jumps

NEW YORK, July 29.—(UP)—Another wave of enthusiastic buying sent the stock market to new heights today. Gains in many cases surpassed those of yesterday.

Steam shovels dug into the ground late yesterday, turning up between 1000 and 1500 skulls mingled with old mortars, pestles, crystals, beads and other articles that had been buried with the Indians.

FATE OF MAYOR WALKER UP TO GOV. ROOSEVELT

Executive Denies Charges Made Against Him by Samuel Seabury

ALBANY, N. Y., July 29.—(UP)—The fate of the dapper, playboy mayor of America's largest city and the political destiny, possibly, of the Democratic president candidate were entangled today in 27,000 word document studied by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The document was Mayor James J. Walker's spirited denial of every charge made against him by Samuel Seabury, counsel for the committee which investigated Tammany Hall's New York City government.

The answer was more than a denial; it was a counter charge that the whole investigation was inspired by the Republican party "to divert public attention from those responsible for the dreadful condition of affairs throughout the country."

Roosevelt must decide whether to remove Walker from office as asked, and thus face the prospect of losing the vote of Walker's friends in the election in a pivotal state, or dismiss the charges and risk allegations by Republicans in the south and west that he is a Tammany tool.

Regardless of Roosevelt's decision, he appears assured of Tammany Hall's support. The organization last night in New York adopted a resolution endorsing him for president: the allied organization dominated by John H. McCooey in Brooklyn did likewise.

The action apparently freed Roosevelt from any restraint that might be induced by threat of a Tammany reprisal.

The mayor in his reply specifically denied he was guilty of these offenses charged by Seabury.

That he violated the city charter by accepting Reliance Bronze and Steel Corporation bonds.

That he owned any Interstate Trust Company stock. It had been alleged that 300 shares of this stock had been purchased by his associates and used in connection with a franchise deal.

THREE RACKETEERS ARE SHOT TO DEATH

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 29.—Three brothers, alleged bootleggers, were shot to death in a hill district street today.

Bullets fired from a speeding automobile killed the three brothers as they walked along the sidewalk.

The killings generally were interpreted as the beginning of one of Pittsburgh's gang wars. Observers said it meant a new gang had worked itself into a position where taking over the vast business of the three brothers depended only on their deaths.

IT IS understood the mayors committee will meet with the supervisors next Tuesday.

Plans Laid At Meeting Last Night

Mayors and Trustees Unite at Gathering to Make Demands on County

INCORPORATED CITIES in Orange county were represented here last night by their mayors and councilmen in a meeting at the city hall, at which time a committee, composed of the mayors and city attorneys of eight communities was appointed to formulate a plan and present it to the county board of supervisors relative to a more equitable distribution of gasoline and license plate taxes.

The meeting, called here by W. L. Hale, mayor of Fullerton, for the purpose of organizing the various cities to go after what they believe to be a rightful division of the tax sums, was attended by representatives of 11 cities. Huntington Beach was represented by the city engineer.

Eight of these cities endorsed a motion made by J. L. McBride, of Santa Ana, to the effect that it was the sense of the meeting that the board of supervisors allocate to the cities 32 1-2 per cent of the gasoline and license plate taxes, on a basis of population, except that smaller cities be given additional sums over the population figures as the smaller cities may require it. The motion was seconded by Councilman Ted Corcoran of Fullerton.

Curtis said that he was forced to leave Los Angeles on Sunday night in order that he might arrive at Topeka, Kansas, in time to vote in the state primaries on Tuesday. He said he hoped to return to California and other western states during the presidential campaign.

BONUS ARMY IN FLIGHT AFTER BLOODY BATTLE

Inspects Ruins

Following his conference with Commissioners Luther H. Reichelderfer and Herbert B. Crosby, MacArthur, attired in uniform, left to inspect the evacuated camps and lay plans for the drive today.

Of the injured, policeman Edgar Scott was in the most serious condition today. His skull was fractured by a brickbat. Gas bombs and pistols with those harmless but temporarily disabling zones were used freely in dispelling spectators and veterans alike as troops moved into the national capital to maintain law and order.

Small military details helped guard the fire-blackened area of Pennsylvania avenue where the veteran, William J. Huskha was shot to death yesterday. Scores of police were there, too. Military authorities plan to restore the occupied areas to police control as soon as possible.

Spectators and bonus veterans suffered alike in the minor personal violence attending military occupation of the three camps. There were saber nicks and gouges aplenty. The government smote the bonusers with horse and foot and they were routed. Tear gas billowed always ahead of advancing troops. Fire followed in their path. Army officials said squatters fired their own shacks. But flames also were set by soldiers.

Camp Wrecked

A few bonus men escaped the flames at Camp Marks. The Pennsylvania avenue camp near the capitol was wrecked beyond repair. The "left wing" settlement was not further habitable when the military occupation was over. Flight from Camp Marks seemed to be endless. Police roared up with sirens wailing shortly before 9 p.m.

Gangs of men swung by singing "Pack Up Your Troubles" and other songs that sounded from younger throats some years ago along the white dusted roads of France. Some men cursed.

"What the hell," said Commander Atwill, "We can't fight an army." And in a spirit of "what the hell," the bonus army left. They said they didn't know where they were going. Some got just outside the camp and squatted on the curb.

In a vacant lot near what had been the family quarters of Camp Marks there were 50 women, perhaps 70 children. Some of the women were crying and hysterical. Others were calm. The children slept or gazed wide-eyed at the fire. There was no fear in their faces but neither was there comprehension in those childish eyes.

Brigadier General Pelman D. Glassford, superintendent of police, walked through the camp. Women hurried to him.

"Mr. Glassford, what have you done? What are we going to do?" Glassford could not tell them.

DESERT GRASS FOR U.S.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Karo grass, which grows in abundance in the desert regions of South Africa, is to be tried out on western desert lands, according to a report of the supervisor of Wasatch National forest. News Behind the News

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallon

DEBTS

You will see President Hoover strike out sometime soon with a bold debt and disarmament move. The cards are being shuffled on the inside for that new deal internationally.

Gone is the idea that the Administration can bury its head in sand and ignore the question until after election. Political and economic reasons require earlier action. They have been impressed forcefully on the occupant of the White House in a recent series of private conferences.

The only things yet to be decided are the time and mode.

Old guardsmen in the party will have conviction fits when they find out about it. They are strongly against playing around with war debts before election day.

The President, however, will probably seek to sell the idea to the party and the country over their heads in at least two important speeches. They will be based on the thought that a world depression can be solved only by a world corrective. The slogan probably will be "Swap the debts for Prosperity."

Several factors brought the highest officials of the government to their inescapable conclusion.

Recent Republican political reports have been bad. Prospects of Republican victory are more remote at this early date than the public generally realizes. A close associate of the president recently told him: "You have no more chance of being re-elected than a snowball has on that hot pavement outside, unless you move fast."

Those on the inside have known for months Europe probably cannot and certainly will not pay. Our policy toward Europe has recently been: "You fellows settle your reparations question and disarm and then we will talk about debts." That was supposed to have been the Hoover-Laval agreement.

McBride also pointed out that this is being done in a number of California counties and that La Habra was in rather an embarrassing position on the plan due to the fact that the supervisors gave $10,660 towards the principal and interest due by the La Habra road improvement district, which included La Habra streets, leaving the district only $15,000 to pay itself. "All we are asking for is a break," said McBride.

Thomas Murphy, mayor of San Clemente, in a speech before the representatives, said that his city favored a more equal distribution, and that Orange and Santa Ana particularly had not been given a fair deal in the distribution of the gas tax monies, although San Clemente had been very generously treated.

Orange itself, through its mayor, did not seem overly favorable to the cities' plan. Mayor Clyde Watson said the city had received $2200. He said he was not convinced that the supervisors could give the money to the cities and asked for an opinion. Clyde Downing, city attorney, read him the statute which he said was, in his opinion, ample authority.

The statute quoted reads as follows:

"But the board of supervisors of any county may in its discretion expend any portion of such sum so received by such county in the construction, maintenance and repair of streets, bridges and culverts within those incorporated cities therein the legislative bodies of which by ordinance or resolution authorize such work of construction, maintenance and repair."

Watson said he was not convinced, and that he had a son, graduate of Harvard, from whom he had received his advice on the project.

Following the meeting, the mayors' committee staged a short meeting. This was presided over by W. L. Hale, mayor of Fullerton, who also was chosen chairman for the regular meeting.

A committee from the Mayors' committee, composed of McBride, Albert Lauener and Mayor Fred Koesel of Anaheim, was named to meet with the tax committee of the Orange County Farm Bureau next Saturday at 8 a.m. for the purpose of exchanging views on the distribution of monies from the tax funds. Roland D. Flaherty, of the Farm Bureau was present at last night's meeting and asked for the meeting, stating that his organization would like to "get together" with the cities' committee.

The Farm Bureau has suggested to the supervisors a cut of 30 cents from the 40 cents county road fund.

CONFERENCE

The president may choose to call a conference before election and hold it afterward. He may decide to hold it in the midst of a presidential campaign. Some politicians advise against such a course but they have no conclusive reasons for their position.

As a matter of fact one of the leading purposes of this conference would be the effect it would have on the election.

Some friends have told the president if he puts it over and the business psychology of the world is pushed upward, he cannot be defeated.

Unquestionably the silver question will be squeezed into any conference. It would have a big effect on western states. Also it would draw into line such outstanding opponents of debt revision as Senator Smoot of Utah.

NOTES

Europe interpreted the Borah speech correctly while we generally did not . . . every diplomat in the knew here wired his government confidentially advising that it be taken as a semi-official statement of the Administration's position. That was a little strong, but the president may select his acceptance speech August 11 as a vehicle for statement of not dissimilar international views. What the treasury really thought about the Glass-Borah inflation bill was disclosed when it sanctioned the issuance of $4,000,000 in currency early this week. More will be issued from time to time. A mild inflation can be quietly effected in this way with no ado.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

CORRECTION

Remington Rand is not offering its divisions for sale, as reported in this column July 26. Certain business negotiations are underway which should not have been interpreted as a radical change of the company's policies. An authentic source drew the picture in broad lines which were over-strengthened in the writing.

ELECTION

Sentiment among important financial interests in New York is beginning to make itself felt increasingly in favor of Hoover. The important consideration is the possibility of international debt revision. Officers of several banks and industrial corporations who have hitherto been non-committal are beginning to declare themselves privately in favor of the Republican candidate.

The financial interests referred to have a considerable stake in debt revision. The feeling is that Hoover would be more likely to take action on the debts than Roosevelt inasmuch as he would have no further reelection problems to cramp his style.

Private advice here indicate that European interests are guardedly pro-Hoover for the same reason. Some of the recent foreign buying of American securities is traceable in part to this cause. The story goes that the Europeans realize that selected American industries represent a safe field for investment but that also—buying in American markets—they can contribute something toward the restoration of prosperity which will in turn help to re-elect the president.

DEBTS

Senator Borah's change of front on the debt situation was very well received in the financial community. There is no anticipation here that anything will be done about it until after election but revision of terms any time within the next year would be regarded as a highly satisfactory outcome of a thorny problem.

POLITICS

No matter how much financial insiders may desire Hoover's success, there are not apt to be many local declarations of sentiment by responsible leaders. Wall Street realizes that it does not stand well with the rest of the country and that a forceful advocacy of Hoover's cause from here might prove a boomerang. Behind the scenes influence of financial powers has waned considerably.

But there is a current wiserack to the effect that Hoover doesn't need a campaign fund as long as he has Garner to work for him for nothing. Garner may be a big shot elsewhere but he is as popular here as a wasp at a picnic.

It is also said that Roosevelt's publicity men will certainly elect Hoover if they are given a free hand until November. Reference is particularly made to the faux pas which had James Roosevelt making a statement one day and denying it the next and to the meaningless exposition of the candidate's view on Russia.

GREAT AUDIENCE APPROVES CONTINUED MAINTENANCE OF MUNICIPAL BAND HERE

It was with great admiration that a throng of spellbound listeners heard the concert last evening given by the Santa Ana Municipal band at Birch park. This splendid all-Russian program, consisting of the works of such composers as Tchaikovsky, Rachmaninoff and Rubenstein, made a deep impression and won hearty applause from the crowd which filled the park.

During the intermission, Judge Allen of the superior court addressed the audience presenting the question of whether the citizens of Santa Ana wish to maintain the municipal band or not. Judge Allen stated that the band as well as the citizens was in favor of reducing taxes and had made cuts bringing the cost of the band from $9000 to $6000 per year. The tax for each citizen per $100 would come to three cents, or the cost of a postage stamp, it was explained.

Following presentation of these facts, Judge Allen asked those present who were in favor of the continuance of the band to rise, which statement was followed by the applause and standing vote of the crowd which was estimated at more than 3000 persons.

Melodious Numbers

The beautiful "Prelude in C sharp Minor" of Rachmaninoff, opened this concert of Russian music. The beauty of this prelude was given its fullest depth and expression. The prelude was followed by the presentation of Rubenstein's "Melody in F," an impressive piece of music, rich in harmony and perfect in melody.

The finale from the "Symphony in F No. 4," the first of the three Tchaikovsky compositions played during the evening's concert, was superb in its magnificence. Beginning with a forceful allegro, descriptive of the joys of life which are all too temporary, the music changes into a melancholy funeral air descriptive of sorrow. Fate, then is heard in the trumpets calling out above everything, reminding us that it is the ever present dominating force from which there is no escape.

In contrast with the enormity of the Tchaikovsky number the delightful "Echoes From the Volga," a selection of Russian melodies by J. S. Seredy was played and was enjoyed to the utmost by the very large audience present. This group of Russian songs characteristic of Russian life brought interest as well as charm into the program.

Soloist Makes Hit

The soloist of the evening, Holly Lash Viseal, also chose a composition of Tchaikovsky as her number. Singing with an expression and interpretation well worthy of this lovely piece of music, the artist gained the admiration and well deserved applause of both the audience and the musicians themselves. Again charming her listeners with the flowing rich quality of her voice, Holly Lash Viseal sang "Gianina Mia" as an encore.

Perhaps the most powerful composition played during the evening's concert was the "Overture Solennelle 1812," another work of Tchaikovsky. During the rendition of this impressive piece of music, the musicians responded wholeheartedly to the direction of D. C. Cianfoni, bringing out the magnetism and compelling beauty of this brilliant work. The performance of both conductors

LOWER TAXES

News of the movement for economy in the spending of Public Funds. Supplied by the Committee on Governmental Expenditure and Taxation, California State Chamber of Commerce.

By Charles M. Coleman

Louisville, Kentucky, according to a current magazine article, has adopted a method of saving the taxpayers money, which goes to the heart of governmental waste and extravagance. It is based somewhat on the principle of the old saw: "Save the pennies and the dollars will take care of them-selves."

Beginning January 1, 1932, 10 per cent of the salaries of all city employees was suspended. There was no actual reduction, the tenth part of each man's pay merely being withheld by the city paymaster under a provision which made possible full payment later on. The statutory officials, those whose salaries are fixed by law, agreed voluntarily to the same percentage suspension imposed upon the other employees.

The proviso attached to the pay suspension was that the 10 per cent retained by the treasurer, or such part of it as was available, would be paid to employees at the close of the fiscal year in August, IF, by cooperating, they would have enough by economical management of the daily expense funds of the city government to provide the necessary cash.

Instantly there was instituted a practice of economy that probably seldom has been duplicated in the history of American municipalities. It had become highly important to every city worker big or little, that not one dime of public money be wasted. One tenth of every pay check was at stake.

Expenses Cut

A police lieutenant discovered that new saddle blankets could be made for 60 cents which usually cost $2; the city garage was able to fix up an old car and cancel a requisition for a new one to re-

FOURTH FIELD OF MARIJUANA FOUND

With the finding of another big field of marijuana on Hansen avenue, a quarter of a mile south of Lincoln avenue yesterday afternoon by sheriff's officers, another county jail crew was put to work pulling up the "dope" weeds and another truck was used to bring the contraband to the sheriff's office.

Later, officers arrested Santos Tula, 25, and booked him at the county jail on a charge of violation of the state poison act.

Four other Mexicans, arrested for "raiding" marijuana plants in fields in various parts of the county, are now in jail awaiting trial in court here.

How to Be Happy with Puff Paste

Puff-paste isn't the bugaboo the average cook thinks it is. Follow this recipe and method of making and the secret is yours.

2 cups pastry flour
1 cup butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 level teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
Ice water (about 1-2 cup)

Beat the egg yolk and mix it with the lemon juice and water. Sift flour and salt and mix to a stiff dough with the liquid. Place on the mounding board and knead lightly, then roll out into an inch thick.

Wash the butter under the cold tap, drain it and form into a flat cake half the size of the dough oblong. Place it on one end of the paste and cover with the other end pressing edges together just as if you were making a fruit pie.

The important part in this pastry making is the rolling: 7 times in all.

Roll out the thick butter filled and fold it in three layers, brushing the paste first with beaten egg white, so that the flakes will rise on baking. Chill between rollings, but see to it that the paste is rolled seven times. Place on ice between rollings so that it will be chilled at all times. Bake in a hot oven and use only for top crusts that do not require too thin a paste.

Importance of Oven Heat

Puff paste will be tough and flat no matter how carefully made if the oven is not exactly right. The heat must be high enough to raise the paste quickly—475 degrees F. is a safe heat. This degree is used until the pastry is well up, then reduce to 375 degrees to dry out and finish the baking.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cantaloupe Fritters

1 ripe yellow cantaloupe

Fleur to dredge

Batter

1-2 cup milk

1 egg, white beaten separately

3 tablespoons flour

Grated rind of 1-2 lemon

Pinch of salt

Deep fat for frying

Select a melon that is well ripened, yet firm. Seed and peel it. Cut in thin half-moon slices and dredge them lightly with flour and half cup of milk together, then—

For the batter beat the egg yolk with the flour and lemon peel. Whip into the stiffly beaten egg white until the batter is bubbly and smooth.

Have sufficient melted fat to float a piece of bread and brown it in 60 seconds. Dip each dredged piece of melon into the fritter batter and fry quickly. Drain and dredge with powdered sugar and serve as a relish with fried chicken.

Hold Ordination Rites In Lutheran Church On Sunday

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, marries Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.

She and Dan move into a cheap apartment. Cherry's first struggles with housework are discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome Max Person, who also loves her. After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl goes home and there is a reconciliation with her parents. Phillips will not allow her to accept financial aid from them however. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon depart, seeking another climate to improve the mother's health.

Brenda Vail, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate in writing a play. Dan begins to spend more of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Dixie tries to warn Cherry that there is gossip about Brenda and Dan but Cherry will not listen.

Dan asks Cherry about a short story he wrote weeks before. She says it was destroyed, deliberately telling an untruth.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XL

Cherry slipped the pie into the oven, closed the door and straightened with a sigh. Her shoulders and arms ached. She knew she should not have tried to bake on cleaning day but the apples would have spoiled if she had not used them. Apple pie was Dan's favorite dessert too.

She looked at the clock and saw that it was almost 6. Time to set the table.

Cherry was wearing her oldest house dress. It was torn and smeared with dust but she did not think of that. Her hair was hidden beneath a towel pinned on for a dust cap and there were black smudges on her cheeks. From floor to ceiling the apartment was in spic and span order but Cherry herself had never been less presentable. She had given the apartment a thorough cleaning, shaken the rugs, swept and dusted and washed the windows. It had all taken longer than she had expected.

Cherry opened the gateleg table and spread out the cloth. Usually she takes pains to make the table attractive but tonight dishes and silver went on carelessly.

She was back in the kitchen stirring the stew made from last night's roast when Dan's key sounded in the lock. Cherry did not turn but called, "That you, Dan?"

She heard him toss down his coat and newspapers. A minute more and he stood in the doorway. "Great Scott!" Dan exclaimed, "what have you been doing to yourself?"

Cherry looked up in surprise. "Why—oh, I guess I forgot to take the towel off my head. I've been cleaning house. Everything's done except the bathroom window. Will you wash it for me, Dan, while I finish getting dinner on the table?"

The young man frowned. "Can't I wait until tomorrow?"

"I promised myself I'd have this work done tonight. If you don't want to do it say so and I'll finish it after awhile. I didn't think you'd mind doing that little bit. I've scrubbed and slaved until I can hardly stand!"

It was unusual for Cherry to complain but tonight she was really tired. She had tried to crowd too much work into a single day and every muscle in her body seemed to protest.

"Oh—all right!" Dan grumbled.

"I'll do it."

He rolled up his sleeves and Cherry pinned an apron about him. She gave him the cleaning powder, a basin of water and clean dusters. Dan disappeared and Cherry went on with preparations for the meal.

She mixed the saud and poured the stew into a serving bowl. Dan didn't like stew but tonight he would have to eat it. Everything was ready except the pie. Cherry glanced into the oven, turned the flame higher.

The young man moved forward so that his face was illuminated by the circle of light. The lines of his cheeks were drawn tightly. He went on stubbornly. "You know what I mean, Brenda! You know things can't go on as they have been."

"But, Dan, you don't mean this!" Brenda Ball had risen. She was dressed in black velvet and out of the shadows her face looked very white. The outline of her rouged lips was like a double heart.

There was a single light in the large room. It came from a lamp near the davenport and it glowed softly beneath the parchment tinted shade. From the shadows across the room a low voice came.

"But you're restless," Brenda Vall said. "Is anything wrong, Dan?"

Phillips turned. "There's nothing wrong," he said. "Nothing at all. But, Brenda, I can't come here any more. I've got to stop seeing you."

"You silly boy! What on earth are you talking about?"

The woman's voice dropped to lower pitch. "I know," she whispered. "It's been hard for me, too. Oh, Dan—"

She was in his arms then and Phillips was kissing her.

Hansen, formerly of this city and now of Long Beach, to review the lease in order to obtain the opinion of a disinterested attorney in addition to the opinion of City Attorney Ray Overacker. EVANGELISTIC SERVICE OPENS IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 29.—Evangelist John Brown, opening his revival campaign in Fullerton last night, the beginning of a series for Orange County under the Orange County Laymen's association, flayed the tendencies of the times, when all men seem to have become conformists, and refuse to stand on principle.

"Stand, alone if necessary, rather than do things because everybody is doing it," and do not be afraid of becoming a crank," he said.

Choosing the three characters in the third chapter of Daniel for his theme, the evangelist likened the fiery trials, during which the three Hebrew youths, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, were thrown in a fiery furnace, to those of the individual today who tries to take a stand for righteously.

"The person who doesn't compromise but who stands firm, has to choose each day whether he will bow to the golden image or endure the fiery furnace," the speaker said. "Those people who are big enough to be different have been the way-showers for generations."

Individual remarks were dropped in, some concerning politics, others lives of men who have dared to be different. Evangelist Brown expressed regret that no leaders stepped forward in either national political convention, to say that the fight is not concerning booze, but that "the country needs God."

The evangelist was introduced by the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church. The Rev. E. Dow Hoffman of the Methodist church, opened the session with prayer.

Special music was given by a male quartet, Paul and Ed Elmer and Kenneth and Clarence Rohr, and by A. H. Ackley, pianist and vocal soloist. Mr. and Mrs. Loren G. Jones, who assisted Mr. Brown at Garden Grove last year, will be present tonight.

The morning devotional services will be in individual homes at 9:15 a.m., each day, when the Rev. Mr. Brown will broadcast a service. These will be followed at 9:45 by prayer services.

Delegations from Whittier, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Orange and Garden Grove attended last night.

The tabernacle was well filled for the first service. Tonight the evangelist will talk on "My Brother's Keeper, or My Brother's Blood."

"Has America Broken Loose," or "Going Into the Calf Business" is the theme for Saturday night.

At the Sunday afternoon service he will talk on "God's Call to Orange," and on Sunday night on "Isaiah's Vision" or "Unclean Lips."

WORD FROM CHICK HAFEEY
Maybe you've wondered, I know I have, what became of Chick Hafey, the 1931 National league batting champion that St. Louis traded to Cincinnati. After he was taken seriously ill and withdrawn from the Reds' lineup, Hafey put on a disappearing act. I don't doubt that a lot of people thought he had died.

But he isn't dead, although he was a very sick man. He's up in Canada, eating, sleeping and awaiting the return of good health. And he's in a great hurry to get back to Cincinnati to join his teammates.

If it hadn't been for Mr. Frank Rostock of Cincinnati, I might never have learned of Hafey's whereabouts.

Mr. Rostock, who is editor of the Cincinnati Post, ordered and okayed himself a brief vacation, and he hid himself off to Canada. In his wonderings, he happened into Port McNicoll, Ontario, a tiny town on Georgian Bay, about 75 miles north of Toronto. And there he discovered Chick Hafey, the Reds' invalid.

Mr. Rostock immediately recognized his duty. He sat down and started writing to the boys back at the Post:

ENJOYING SIMPLE LIFE

"Up here (Port McNicoll) where zippy breezes carry the snap and zest of the northland, I came across Chick Hafey, the wallowing left fielder of the Reds. Chick is making a game effort to win back speedily the strength that ousted him after a recent siege of influenza.

"No baseball, no heavy road work—for the present, just the simplest of living, eating home-made meals and breathing the pure balm-laden air for which this region is famous."

Port McNicoll has no metropolitan aspect. It has a main street with a dozen store buildings, a large grain elevator, a hotel and docks. It's just that exciting, not a bit more. A place where there are no distractions, just fresh air, good food, cool nights—a place for a man to breathe his best and his hardest.

Borotra Crushes Vines In Davis Cup Upset

COCHET'S WIN GIVES FRANCE 2-0 ADVANTAGE

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, Paris, July 29.—(UPI)—France virtually cinched the Davis Cup for the sixth successive year today when Henri Cochet defeated Wilmer Allison of Texas, 5-7, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2, after Jean Borotra had won in a surprising 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 victory over Ellsworth Vines of California in the first of the day's two singles matches.

Today's clean sweep, achieved before 10,000 wildly partisan spectators, gave France two of the three points necessary for retention of the cup. This needed point may be gained in tomorrow's doubles engagement or on Sunday when Cochet clashes with Vines, and Allison plays Borotra.

Vines' defeat at the hands of the veteran Borotra was probably the most stunning upset the cup play has seen in years. American and Wimbledon champion, and hailed by many experts as the "greatest player of all time," Vines was expected to blast the Basques off the court and assure France of an even break on the strength that ousted him after a recent siege of influenza.

"No baseball, no heavy road work—for the present, just the simplest of living, eating home-made meals and breathing the pure balm-laden air for which this region is famous."

"Oh gee, I wonder where we are," said Disney. "We have traveled far. Perhaps we're in a real strange land and in somebody's house."

"That sliding down the chimney was a very funny thing because we all got black. Let's look around. Be quiet as a mouse," said Scouty.

"Well, as for me, I'm going to look until I see some water where we all can bathe. The soot gets in my eyes. I hope our clothes will wash all right. If not, we'll always look at sight. We get into the strangest places underneath the sides."

They crawled out of the big fireplace and Copy laughed. "Look at my face. I just peered in a mirror. I am like a minstrel lad."

"The soot, I've found, will not come loose. Don't try to brush it. It's no use. I have to laugh to think of the experience we have had."

"You'd better save your laughter till we find out if another thrill is waiting right here for us," said ween Scouty, with a grin.

And then he added, "Listen, boys! I'm sure I heard a real strange noise. It sounded just like footsteps. I'll bet someone's coming in."

They didn't wait so very long until a man, both fat and strode up and said, "Hello, there!" Then he broke into a smile.

"Well, goodness gracious, mercy me, you sure are blackened up," said he. "I'll turn the hose on you and you'll be cleaned up after while."

The Times trailed him, with a whoop and shortly gathered in a group, while their new friend was getting set to splash them good and strong.

Out of the hose the water came. Twas cold, but everyone was game. "Don't run away," cried Scouty. "Stay right here until we belong."

Traffic Count Shows Decrease In County Road Use

BUSIEST SPOT FUND SOUGHT
ORANGETHORPE TO SEND DRUM
GRAND AVENUES CORPS TO MEET

With the intersection at Orangethorpe and Grand avenue, near Buena Park showing the greatest number of cars passing daily, a traffic check on county highways taken Sunday, July 10, and Monday, July 11, by the county road department revealed that traffic over Orange county highways, generally, has decreased from seven to 22 per cent under figures for 1931, according to Nat H. Neff, highway superintendent. Figures on the count on state highways have not been completed.

There were three instances, however, where traffic showed an increase over last year. The La-Guna Beach-Laguna cutoff showed a 50 per cent increase over last year and the intersection at Lincoln and Grand avenues showed a 15 per cent increase in truck travel. An increase in truck traffic, also was shown at the Brea canyon-Central avenue intersection.

10,291 Cars In Day
The heaviest traffic in the country was at the intersection of Orangethorpe and Grand avenues where, on Sunday, 20,582 traffic units were counted on the four arms of the intersection, which meant that 10,291 passed through the crossing. On Monday there were 12,664 traffic units in the four arms with 6,322 passing through the intersection.

At the intersection of Laguna road and Laguna cutoff, where the increase over last year was recorded, the four arms of the intersection showed a total of 4,664 automobiles on Sunday, meaning that 2,332 cars went through the intersection. On Monday there were 2,299 cars on the arms and 1,150 crossing the intersection.

At Lincoln and Grand avenues where truck traffic showed an increase over last year, 748 trucks going in the four directions were counted on Sunday and 1,652 on Monday. This meant that on Sunday 373 trucks crossed the intersection and on Monday the number increased to 526.

At Brea Canyon and Central avenue truck traffic through the intersection was 251. On Monday 524 trucks went through the intersection.

Twelve Intersections
Results of the two day check on county roads were: Orangethorpe and Grand avenue, Sunday, 10,291 automobiles, 368 trucks; Monday, 6,322 automobiles, 1,057 trucks.

SERVE WORLD'S LARGEST CHERRY PIE

Here's how to make the world's largest cherry pie: 75 bushels of famous Michigan cherries (hand-picked), three barrels of flour, 150 pounds of lard, 100 pounds of sugar. Get the world's largest pie pan, bake in the world's largest pie oven, garnish with a bay of cherry country peaches (for contrast) and serve for the National Cherry Festival at Traverse City, Mich. The 1,800-pound pie, baked to this recipe, is shown above. It was 16 feet across and a foot and a half thick. On the platform at the right are Queen Caroline Hazard of the Cherry Festival, and Mayor William H. McKeigan of Flint, Mich., who presented the pie to Queen Caroline. The ladies-in-waiting helped 200 children serve the pie to festival throngs.

FRUIT PATROL CAPTURES TWO SPUD THIEVES

Two men are in the county jail today charged with petty theft as a result of operation of Officers Dungan and Brown of the Orange county fruit patrol. They were arrested on the ranch of Wendell Hell, north of Huntington Beach, last night while removing approximately 200 pounds of potatoes from the field.

The men taken in custody were Frank Ingerson, 46, ironworker of Huntington Beach, and Byron S. Thornton, 26, also of Huntington Beach.

According to officers they spotted the men while they were in the Hell potato field filling sacks with the tubers. When the pair saw the officers approaching they made an attempt to escape in their automobile but were foiled. Ingerson who operates a fruit and vegetable stand near Costa Mesa was planning to sell the potatoes at his stand.

He had complained to the fruit patrol that he had been robbed of more than 100 bags of large potatoes. He had notified the Association of Unemployed that they could have small potatoes in his field for the picking and had donated a quantity to the Masonic Lodge of Long Beach for distribution to the needy. Thiefs of marketable tubers, he said, had already taken all profit from this year's crop.

$3000 Bail Set Pending Hearing

Harold Berle Neth, of Huntington Beach, filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Iva Neth, charging her with desertion. The couple married at Mandan, North Dakota, September 4, 1932, and separated July 16, 1931. In his complaint Neth is asking custody of the couple's minor child, alleging that the mother is not a fit and proper person to have the child's care and custody. The child, at present, is with the father.

Morris, who set the preliminary hearing for August 10, and fixed bail at $3,000. According to a complaint filed by Fermin Silvas, Central Avenue, Delhi, who alleged that the defendant enticed his daughter, Antonio Silvas, a minor, from his home. Alvarez was arrested by city police and lodged in the county jail.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SAYS NO LEGAL BARRIER TO RETURN OF PORTION OF OFFICIALS' PAY

There is no legal barrier to the voluntary contribution and return to the public treasury of a portion of the salaries of those public officials whose compensation is fixed by state law, according to an opinion given by Attorney General U. S. Webb, which has been received by the State Chamber of Commerce on governmental expenditure and taxation, it was learned here today.

This is expected to remove objections to pay cuts of public officials on the grounds that they were unable to accept cuts under the law.

The decision is of interest because of the effort made in a large number of cities and counties and contemplated in others to apply payroll economies to the salaries of statutory officials as well as to those other employees of government. In many places the device of voluntary contributions has been willingly adopted by the officials affected, who desire to do their share in relieving the taxpayers of burdensome costs.

The State Chamber's committee has advocated voluntary reduction of salaries from the beginning of its campaign for government economy.

The conclusions of the attorney general referring to the reduction of governmental expenditures are expressed in the following paragraphs quoted from his opinion:

"The efforts now put forward, though belated, should be given all possible support and encouragement, but such efforts should be legally pursued."

"Public officials everywhere should aid in this endeavor and the voluntary contribution of a portion of their salaries and the return of such portion to the public treasury would be entirely lawful, as would be contributions from those not engaged in public service, but it is unlawful to compel such contributions from public officers through threats of their defeat at the hands of the electorate if such contributions be not made."

The opinion was given to the district attorney of Yuba county in response to an inquiry from that official as to whether any offense against the law was involved in an alleged threat by taxpayers that political action would be continued.

OFFICIALS OF STATE HERE TO AID GROWERS

Josef Carey, chief of the bureau of market enforcement of the state department of agriculture, accompanied by Wilson Woodburn, deputy in charge of the southern part of the state, were visitors in Anaheim and Santa Ana yesterday on various matters involving the work of their office.

A preliminary hearing was held before Justice of the Peace Charles Kuchel in the matter of Ung Jung Hung, a Chinese commission merchant against whom Woodburn has sworn out a warrant on a charge of doing business of a dealer contrary to the provisions of the Produce Dealers act. Several Orange county growers were present to testify as to the operations of the defendant. The result of the hearing was an arrangement allowing a continuance within which time the defendant was to pay the complaining growers. The defendant however waived further hearing, stating that he would plead guilty before the superior court when the case was called on the continued date, September 6.

Explains Acts

Carey spoke over KREG, using the allotted time to explain the Produce Dealers act and the Deciduous Fruit Dealers act, the two statutes which his bureau administers and enforces. The speaker pointed out that the former act requires that all persons or corporations who take farm produce on a consignment basis must first secure a license to do such business for the state department of agriculture, after posting a surety company bond in the amount of $5,000 with the license application.

The Deciduous Fruit Dealers act touches all those who ship deciduous fruits, grapes and dates out of the state on a credit basis, or other deferred payment contract, and requires a separate license and separate bond.

Secures Settlements

Carey further stated: "I wish that more growers know of the service which is open to them through the bureau of enforcement. This bureau not only regulates the trade through the application of the two laws which I have mentioned, but has the duty of securing for growers adjustment and settlement of whatever just and proper claims they may have against commission merchants. This service is free, and may be had by addressing me at the Department of Agriculture building, Los Angeles.

"The state is being slowly but surely cleared of unlicensed dealers, who cost California Growers hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly. A few days ago two unlicensed wool dealers were bound over to the superior court of Imperial county. Convictions have been secured in Riverside, and Los Angeles counties, and others are pending in Orange, Tulare, Kings and Kern."

Carey and Woodburn conferred with R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the Farm bureau, and discussed with several growers claims now filed and pending before the bureau.

Round of Festivities Follows Sorority Initiation

Miss Louise Leck, in whose honor Sigma Tau Psi members have entertained generously this past week, was officially admitted to membership in the sorority at formal initiation rites conducted Wednesday evening in the home of Miss Jean Rowland at 2418 Fairmont street.

The formal attire affected by members and pledge lent further dignity to the ceremony, which preceded a dinner held at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe on North Main street. Floral corsages, worn by the young women, made of the dinner group an especially colorful spectacle.

The sorority colors of yellow and green were adhered to in table appointments, nutcups and place-cards furthering this scheme. The dinner party was climaxed with the presentation to Miss Leck of a bracelet set with the crest of the sorority. In the bridge games which Miss Jean Rowland captured first prize, consolation going to Miss Eloise Wright.

Guests at Bridge Tea Told Betrothal and Wedding Plans

Local Young People United at Quiet Ceremony

That the air of gayety which yesterday pervaded the A. H. T. Taylor home at 2422 Fairmont avenue when Mrs. Taylor was hostess to a group of her and her daughter's friends, was fully explained as the afternoon drew to a close and guests were apprised of the betrothal of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's daughter, Miss Juliette Antoinette Taylor, and Franklin Van Meter, son of D. H. Van Meter, 844 North Helena street, Anaheim.

Striking Floral Effect
The announcement, and indeed the entire party, was staged amidst unusually attractive surroundings, for the charm of the home was enhanced by quantities of dahlias, striking in color, form and size. One room was banked entirely with velvety red blooms; another was in glowing yellow; while exquisite small pompons were reserved for table decorations at the tea hour. The flowers were sent to Mrs. Taylor and Miss Taylor by Mrs. F. L. Schmidt, who had grown them in the gardens of her home on Santa Clara avenue.

Bridge was introduced as the afternoon's entertainment, and prizes were awarded in two groups, among the girls who represented Miss Taylor's special circle of friends, and among the women whose friendship for her and her mother, gave them special interest in her wedding plans. Prizes for high score thus went to Miss Enid Twist and Mrs. John Crawford, while consolation gifts were presented Mrs. L. J. Lee and Mrs. Ira Mercer.

Betrothal Is Told
It was with the presentation of the prizes that the engagement news was revealed, for attached to each gift was a card of dainty design and color, in which Dan Cupid peeped roughly from behind a floral gateway, to announce the names of Miss Taylor and her fiance, Mr. Van Meter, and the wedding month of October.

While guests were discussing the romantic nature of the afternoon Mrs. Taylor hustled herself in spreading card tables with immaculate linens and arranging the central bowls of pompon dahlias whose delicate colors were repeated in the clever individual cups. The ices with their rose heart centers, and individual cakes with rosebuds in the frosting, continued the pretty pastel color scheme. Miss Marjorie Hatter assisted in serving.

Miss Taylor, a graduate of Santa Ana high school, was a member of the class completing the junior college course in June. Mr. Van Meter, who had his high school course in Anaheim, also took his junior college work in Santa Ana, and was a member of the 1931 graduating class. He is now employed in Wilmington with the Union Oil company.

The 33rd grand convention is to be held in San Francisco July or August, 1933, with the date to be decided upon later.

Members of the local institute will have their next regular session Thursday evening, August 11. Reports on the grand convention will be given at this time.

Hershiser-Schwerin Nuptial Service Read Here

With the J. J. Hershiser residence at 1611 West Eighth street as its setting, the marriage of Miss Virginia Hershiser, daughter of the home, and John Schwerin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Schwerin of Highland Park, was performed last evening before a small congregation of relatives and intimate friends. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Flowers and fernery had been massed imposingly to provide an artistic background for the ceremony, soft pastel tones prevailing in the gladioluses, snapdragons and other blooms with which mantel, piano and other parts of the living room were appointed.

Solos Precede Rites

In this floral setting guests waited while Miss Katherine Schwerin, sister of the bridegroom, sang "I Love You Truly" and "All For You" to the accompaniment of Miss Marjorie Thornton of Highland Park. The two vocal selections preceded by only a few moments Lohengrin's "Wedding March," played by Miss Thornton as the bride approached the improvised altar, where waited Mr. Schwerin with his brother, Benjamin Schwerin, as best man.

Mrs. Clyde Higgins (Beryl Ludlow), whose marriage preceded that of her close friend by only two months, attended the bride as matron of honor, her costume being of silk crepe of a peacock blue, set off with a contrasting corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Attired in rose pink silk crepe and wearing a corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley, the bride made an effective picture as she followed her matron of honor to the altar.

An informal reception followed the service, throughout which Miss Thornton played softly. Ice cream in basket molds tied with bows of yellow tulle was served guests with individual cakes iced with bells, from a dining table beautiful with centerpiece of yellow dahlias in an amber vase and cloth and appointments of yellow and white.

Reappearing dressed for travel in a sports outfit of heavy white silk with blue jacket, scarf of blue and yellow, and white accessories, the new Mrs. Schwerin departed with her husband on a week end trip along the coast from which they expected to return Sunday to establish themselves in the Highland Park apartments at Highland Park.

Graduating from the Santa Ana high school a year ago last June, Mrs. Schwerin undertook a year's study at the Roosevelt School of Drama in Los Angeles. Her husband, who received his secondary school diploma from the Franklin high school at Huntington Park, pursued a business course at the same school before accepting a position as bookkeeper with the Baruck Baking company in Los Angeles, where he has been located for the past two years.

Attend Ceremony

Witnessing last night's service were the parents of bride and bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hershiser and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Schwerin of Highland Park; Messrs. and Mesdames J. F. Hershiser, M. D. Sheely and sons, Norman and Martin; G. F. Ludlow, Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, Miss Helen Demetrios and Miss Virginia Golden, all of Santa Ana; Messrs. and Mesdames C. W. Higgins of Orange; H. A. Snyder, R. A. Schwerin, M. W. Schwerin, Miss Katherine Thornton and Benjamin Schwerin, all of Huntington Park, and Herbert Palmer of Shelby, Ohio.

Miss Dunton Receives Guests at Luncheon Of Olympic Theme

With the opening of the Olympic Games but a few days off, Miss Betty Dunton found ample justification for her choice of an Olympic motif in appointments of the luncheon with which she entertained Wednesday afternoon. Two dozen friends, bidden to a luncheon and bridge, were guests at the affair, given in her home at 1532 East Fourth street.

Olympic colors predominated in the cloths which covered the several small luncheon tables as well as in various other forms of decoration, notably the five interlinked circles of paper, signifying the Olympic Games, with which each table was adorned.

Guests were re-grouped for bridge, spending the remaining hours of the afternoon at card play. Tallies, when collected and compared, revealed Miss Priscilla Adams and Miss Helen Bower first and second high, each receiving appropriate reward from the hostess.

Attending this pleasant affair were the Misses Mary Helen Bell, Leora Hatch, Dorothy Hatch, Elaine Hatch, Marian Brownridge, Armine Crawford, Zarah ("Dolly") Boyle, Helen Bower, Helen Demetrios, Margaret Guard, Barbara Rurup, Louise Rurup, Theima Johnson, Sally Newkirk, Priscilla Adams, Suzanne Alexander, Elma McBride, Pauline Berry, Ruth Crowell, Rebecca McPeak, Marjorie Marble, Ruth Baker, and Barbara Dunton, besides the hostess, Miss Betty Dunton.

County Council B. P. W.
Has Dinner Meeting
In Local Cafe

In accordance with the custom of meeting at monthly intervals to discuss matters pertinent to individual Business and Professional Women's club organizations, members of the Orange county council B. P. W. dined together Wednesday evening in the Green Cat cafe of Santa Ana, with presidents and vice presidents of the various county clubs conferring with the county president, Miss Mabel Hathaway of Anaheim.

Much of the general talk centered in the state convention to be held in Yosemite park in September, and the club executives were interested in learning that the Motor Transit would furnish a bus to go from this county and remain at the park to await the convenience of the members for the return trip, providing a minimum of 25 members would sign for the outing. The fare for the round trip was set at $11 a passenger, and it is believed that there will be a sufficient number of club women to combine vacation plans with the convention trip, to secure the bus with this special rating.

The proposed merger of the two state associations was dwelt upon also, although no action was taken as the matter will be discussed more fully by individual clubs before it comes up for action at the state convention.

Each visiting president gave a report of her club's activities for the past month and plans for the future. Miss Margaret Way, president of the recently instituted Balboa club, invited the council to hold its August meeting in Balboa, an invitation that was accepted.

Among those attending Wednesday night's meeting in addition to the county president, Miss Hathaway of Anaheim, were Mrs. Henri Pernot, Long Beach; E. J. Stanley, Tustin; C. J. Dunham, Rosamond, and Frank H. Casebeer, Beverly Hills.

ANSWERS POUR IN IN PUZZLE CONTEST

The answers to Philco prize puzzle contest, announced yesterday, are pouring in and the judges are going to be swamped in selecting the winners of the Philco 5-tube Baby Grand radio which is the first prize, according to L. M. Turner of the Turner Radio company.

"I just received word today, that in Duluth, Minn., one of the contestants sent her answer in carved wood," Turner said, "and another presented his answer cut out of vegetables and mounted on a plate. It is important to think up a unique manner in which to present the solution because the prize awards are made on this feature as well as on the correct solution to the puzzle."

The contest closes Saturday night, August 6 at 6 p.m. and only answers submitted before that time or bearing post marks prior to that hour will be eligible.

Copies of the puzzle contest can be obtained at Turner Radio company and the seven valuable prizes are on display in the windows there.

B. & P. W. CLUB GREEK THEATER HEARS ADDRESS IS FILLED FOR AT GATHERING BAND CONCERT

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Declaring that the liquor question will never be settled until it is taken out of politics, Mrs. Edith Van de Water, national committee woman for the Republican party and delegate to the recent convention at Chicago, addressed the members of the Business and Professional Women last evening at an open meeting held at the Elks clubhouse, and told of the highlights and the personalities at the convention.

"It is not true that the party devoted its entire time to the liquor question and left other important issues go by," the speaker stated, "but more publicity and time was devoted to it than to any other issue as it was the one question that the party was not agreed upon."

Saying that the 1154 delegates were serious and earnest minded in an effort to do their best to bring better conditions about in the country she said that the galleries were the disturbers and the only part of the house that was intoxicated.

The speaker went on to explain the workings of the convention, the seating of the delegates and the various committee appointments.

In speaking of the many prominent people attending she said that the popular figures that caught the public eye were Will Rogers, William Allan White, Alice Longworth and Dolly Ghyant.

The speaker was introduced by Robbie Anderson, president-elect and legislative chairman.

Kate E. McCullah presented an Indian, the Lone Star Trumpeter in a series of selections, accompanying him at the piano. Reita Schewiss, president, presided.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS HOLD BRIDGE PARTY

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Miss Grace Spielman was hostess last evening to the members of Job's Daughters at her home on East Center street entertaining with a bridge party.

Awards were made to Mrs. Eva Boyd, first, Miss Phyllis Granada, second and Miss Thelma Woods, third. Light refreshments were served late in the evening.

There were present besides the hostess and her mother, Mrs. John Spielman, Jeanette Campbell, Phyllis Pelhamus, Evelyn Pelhamus, Mary Eleanor Spielman, Marjorie Spielman, Jane Schaffer, Anetta Schwager, Thelma Thayer, Thelma Woods and Mrs. Eva Boyd.

Anaheim Police News

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Mrs. Tom Evans of North Sabina street reported to the police station last evening that an endorsed check for $51.21 had been stolen from her between 3 and 4:30 o'clock yesterday. The number of the check is 158511.

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Amelia Ries, found guilty of intoxication in Judge Frank Tausch's recorder's court was fined $25 this morning.

Bridge prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lillian McAdams, first, Mrs. Pauline Kroeger, second, and Mrs. Doris Elmers, third.

As the party was also in the nature of a welcome home to Frances Backs, president elect, and Mayme Dillon both delegates to the recent Grand Institute, they were presented, during the afternoon with finely tooled leather stationery boxes.

HOOKS and SLIDES by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

endure all this solitude is another question. Whether he is going to be able to play regularly to any extent the rest of the season is another subject for quite a bit of thought.

However, Chick is making an earnest effort to regain his strength and, if admiration for Owner Sid Well, friendship for Manager Dan Howley and a will to help his teammates finish higher in the race count for anything, he'll be swinging the old war club before many weeks have passed.

THOUGHTS OF REDS

"There's one more thing Chick is doing—rooting hard for the Reds. Ball scores are slow in reaching here, and they haven't been of an encouraging nature, but Chick's pulling for all he's worth for a winning strike, better breaks and an end to so many Red accidents.

"I hope the fans don't lose heart," commented Chick after hearing about some of the new hard luck that came to plague the Reds. "I know there has been little to cheer about lately, but the Reds have been up against a persistent spree of hard luck and the tables are bound to turn. I look and hope for a good record during the rest of the season."

"So far as his condition is concerned, Chick has little of an encouraging nature to offer. He is still weak, about 14 pounds under weight, and unable to do any of the hustling which baseball demands. He probably played three weeks longer than he should before giving up. He felt alternately good and bad. He was puzzled by his own symptoms. Then came the breakdown and the long stage of flu."

KILLEFER TO BE RETAINED

Phil DeC. Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, will re-appoint Bill Killefer to manage his club in 1933. The information comes straight from Sid Keener in St. Louis and Mr. Keener, I have come to learn, is a man who gives nothing but good tips.

Among those who will attend the opening of the Olympic Games on Saturday from here are Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnston and daughter, Miss Jessie Johnston; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Backs and daughter, Miss Florence Backs; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams and daughter, Miss Katherine Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Demares are entertaining Dr. Henry H. Hill and his family from Lexington, Ky., at their summer home at Anaheim Landing. The guests will attend the Olympic Games.

Mrs. George L. Reid, wife of the secretary of chamber of commerce, has been seriously ill at her home, 622 North Lemon street, for the past few days. She is reported slightly improved.

TRAGEDY IN WASHINGTON

The tragedy in Washington, where one of the ex-service men was shot, several wounded, and a number of the police of the city injured, is causing consternation and sorrow throughout the nation. It is not difficult to criticize, but it is difficult to point out a constructive solution for this untoward condition.

We believe that greater frankness should be had with the public; that the real facts should be known, to the end that the people of the nation may face them with intelligence and with a thoroughness that the situation demands. We are confident that the bonus army marched to Washington without the general approval of the public, and certainly not with the approval of many of their comrades at home. They were of the unemployed group and using the unpaid portion of the bonus as their rallying cry, and the animus for the march and for the concentration at the capital, they gathered in these large numbers.

Such a man as Sir Henry Dickens could answer some leading questions along this line and his answers, especially if they could be coupled with the answers of several hundred or a thousand others, might develop into an interesting study. And incidentally might inspire the man of genius to a greater interest in his children, "poor wretches."

WORTH A STUDY

Sir Henry Dickens, the only surviving child of Charles Dickens, has announced his intention to retire in October as a common sergeant of the "city" of London. For fifteen years Sir Henry has been a judge in the famous criminal court, Old Bailey.

Next January he will be eighty-four years old. He has a reputation as one of the most humane judges on the bench. In notifying the Lord Mayor of his wish to retire he said that he wanted to give his place to a younger man.

It would be interesting if someone were to conduct a study of the influence of great men on their children, other than physical and mental inheritance. It is possible that many men who have achieved fame as scientists, statesmen, and writers, have done little else for their children than bestow upon them the inheritance which could not very well be denied them if they were brought into the world at all.

Reading the lives of men of genius of the last century before the state had assumed a considerable part of the burden of educating and protecting children, one cannot but wonder about the children of the man of genius who was forced by the necessity of self expression and self realization to deny his children at least the ordinary manner of living. For some it was doubtless a benefit; for others only a mother's concern protected the child from suffering because of the thoughtlessness and selfishness of the genius. For others, even though there were drawbacks, the association with the genius was compensation for the loss of countless other lesser things customary in the kingdom of childhood.

Such a man as Sir Henry Dickens could answer some leading questions along this line and his answers, especially if they could be coupled with the answers of several hundred or a thousand others, might develop into an interesting study. And incidentally might inspire the man of genius to a greater interest in his children, "poor wretches."

ROBBERS FRIGHTENED BY GUN

Pity the poor thug! He really is a poor, fearful creature. Actually afraid of his own shadow. And such fear as that means real misery. If you don't believe it here is an account of two robbers who were carrying out a payroll robbery in Brooklyn, New York. They had stolen the pay roll, twenty-six hundred dollars. Then the pistol of one of the two robbers was accidentally discharged and they were so frightened that they dropped their loot and fled.

We always felt that these men shouldn't be permitted to have firearms. Now we know that they shouldn't. It would be a real kindness to protect them from their own fear complex.

America at Play

Christian Science Monitor

It is an illuminating picture that the Business Week presents in its analysis of the nation's expenditures for recreation and the changes that have taken place therein in the decade from 1919 to 1929. Foreigners have frequently expressed the opinion that Americans lacked a capacity for play. That their plan is costly the figures uncontestedly demonstrate: the enthusiastic year 1929 accounted for an estimated national expenditure on recreation (exclusive of the automobile, of domestic travel and of refreshments) in excess of $5,000,000,000—more than it costs to operate the Federal Government.

With what wisdom this enormous sum was spent is, however, open to some question. Of outstanding interest is the considerable relative decline occurring in "personal recreation," in which the individual is an active participant, as against "passive recreation," in which he is merely an onlooker or passive participant. In the decade 1919-1929, the amount spent on personal sports—golf, boating, tennis, and so forth—constituted only 16.9 per cent of the total national bill for recreation, a decline of 3.3 per cent in ten years. The amount spent for instruments and music—representing "personal music making"—declined in the same period from 10.7 per cent to 1.7 per cent, in favor, of course, of the radio, representing "passive music making."

These figures, together with others concerned with personal recreation, indicate a decline of at least 15 per cent in expenditures for recreation in which the individual is an active participant, during this decade. Against these figures, on the other hand, must be placed the widely growing interest in "hiking." Week end clubs are enlisting their thousands who find joy and invigoration in pedes-trianism, which frequently includes not a little mountain climbing. And all over the United States there is a notable rerudescence in horseback riding.

The fact, however, remains that too much delicateness ideology is making inroads into this great phase of national existence in the United States. Recreation, like food, must be served to Americans, apparently, with a minimum of effort on their part, else they will have little or none of it. Instead of playing, enjoyment is still to a large extent found in the play of special groups who make of it a profession; instead of making their own music or exercising a high degree of selection in its making, people accept virtually whatever music is offered. Recreation increasingly is becoming a function vicariously exercised.

To the serious student of social trends this growing passivity points to an absorbing development which adds one more complication to the problem of the right use of leisure. We must emphasize the value of human rights, but we cannot except the impossible of our servants.

When President Taft was asked what he would do in an emergency for himself, if he were without a job, no money and a large family to support, he said truthfully and frankly, when this question was asked him in a public address: "God only knows; I do not." This episode should quicken our conscience and deepen our sympathy for all men and women who are in need, and we should determine to do what we can for their alleviation in every way possible.

More Truth Than Poetry

LAMENT OF A LOAFER

I used to think I'd like to go
And dwelt among the Esquimaux
Who spear what meat
They need to eat
And pay no rent nor taxes.
But they must battle, I've been told,
To keep from dying of the cold.
For men soon freeze
In the degrees
So near the old earth's axis.

I also thought I'd like the lot
Of the untiring Hottentot
Who lolls at ease
Beneath the trees
And rarely ever labors.
Yet I discover even he
Is not from care and worry free,
For now and then
These gentlemen
Are eaten by their neighbors.

And so I think I'd best remain
And seek my bread and meat to gain
Where, if I shirk
A day of work
Or slight my occupation;
I'll either have to go to jail
Because of a default in bail
Or by and by
Lie down and die
From critical starvation.

A CRUEL WORLD

Most of us are forgotten men—after the election.

NOTHING ELSE TO DO

It seems a shame that Mr. Garner didn't get his federal building bill passed. There would have been so many of us with plenty of time to set around and watch the men work on the new post-offices.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Page

Pop was smoking and thinking and ma was pushing crooked things strate and strate things crooked, saying, Giadis was around this afternoon to do some sewing with me, and naturally she brawls little Willie. That child is certainly developing a decided little personality. I gave him a little lesson this afternoon in taking pride in doing things well rather than just merrily doing them in the vulgar hope of a reward, ma said.

Dont spare me the details, pop said, and ma said. Every time he sees me sewing he always palmstakingly picks up the little snips of material and bits of thread from the floor and then I give him a penny, but today I decided to impress him with the sensation that a thing done well is its own reward, in other words I wanted to instill him with a little sense of pride.

How did it work? pop said, and ma said, It succeeded bewtifully, in a way. He carefully gathered up all the little shreds and snips and handed them to me, and I pertended to be awestruck with admiration, and I said to him, Why Willie, that's perfeck. I'm very very proud of you, that's lovely.
And I just glowed at him instead of making the usual move to give him a penny, and really he seemed quite impressed. He thawt it over a while and then he said, Is it better than the last time, grand-muddy? and I said, O, much better, and he said, Is it better than the time before last? and I said, O, much, much better, and he thawt it over a little while more and then he said, Then I want 2 pennies instead of one, ma said.

Do you call that succeeding bewtifully? pop said, and ma said.
Why certeny, it proved that besides taking pride in his work he also has a certain confident sense of his own worth, which is a most necessary thing in life, P. Willis Hinkle had an article in the paper about it on the other day. I was so delighted that I gave him
3 cents instead of 2, ma said.

Pardon the back of my paper, pop said. And he got behind the sporting page and stayed there.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today.
From The Register Files

JULY 29, 1918

Santa Ana relatives received a message from George H. Platt of the supply company, 364th Infantry, announcing his safe arrival overseas.

Dr. Arthur H. Domann, county health officer, had returned to his home in Orange and resumed his practice after several weeks' absence in his old home, Milwaukee, Wis., and in Chicago and various points in Ohio.

Many activities were already under way after the organization of a County Farm Bureau center in Tustin, with C. E. Utte, chairman; E. A. Crawford, vice chairman; Roy Runnels, secretary-treasurer, and I. L. Marchant, representative director to the County Farm Bureau. Underground water waste, citrus groves, were to receive the attention of members.

George Kuwata, a prosperous Japanese farmer who had lived in Westminster for 18 years, left for his native land to visit his aged father in their home in Hiroshima for four months.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

GO BACK TO SCHOOL

Teeming thousands of young Americans in June of this year were graduated from American high schools, colleges and universities.

They are now battering their heads against the stone walls of a jobless world.

In the long run, I do not, as I said some days ago, pity them.

The future belongs to the emancipated and educated mind that can face fresh problems with fresh outlooks.

But, for the short run, I am concerned about these young Americans who may find their educated minds unmarketable during the year ahead.

I dread to think of their loafing for the next year, letting their minds rust and their characters disintegrate.

I want, if I can, to give all such young Americans a word of sensible advice today.

Don't loaf!

Don't let your minds rust!

Get a job if you can!

If you cannot get a job, then move heaven and earth to get back into school for the coming year.

And I think the schools of the nation should move heaven and earth to make it possible for you to get back into school by providing, even at the expense of other things, as many scholarships and fellowships as possible.

And, when you get back into school, if you have up to now followed a pretty narrow technical preparation, broaden your scope of study by studying the nature and needs of the American political, social, and economic order.

I say this because just now millions of technically expert Americans find themselves in blind alleys tragically in those general political, social, and economic policies which, in the end, as we are learning to our sorrow, make or break the separate enterprises of men.

Forward to a job if possible!

Back to school if no job shows up!
